A-F Fulgence is a highly talented local landscape painter and BDAS tutor. Her paintings demonstrate a mastery and deep understanding of the Australian landscape. She has been professionally exhibiting for the past 19 years and has won several prizes and commendations.

Join A-F for a fabulous 2 day workshop exploring landscape studies on paper. This workshop is designed for those who would like to immerse themselves in a particular process to produce small works on paper. Students will explore different mediums such as acrylic, oil, dry pastel, and raw pigments.

A-F will demonstrate her landscape painting process and guide the class to create a series of exercises. She will encourage participants to take risks, to be brave and ruthless. From the preparation of the painting support, the choice of documentation, the selection of colours, the choice of brushes, the use of acrylic and oil mediums to the realisation of their artwork.

Students are encouraged to bring their own pictures and documentation to work from. A-F will work with each student to best work out how to use and crop the images to achieve a successful result. By the end of the weekend, you could expect to take home multiple small artworks on paper.
